The Lalande de Pomerol AOC area, which is a neighbour of Pomerol and Saint Emilion, lies a few kilometres to the north of Libourne and covers the communes of Lalande de Pomerol and Neac. Lalande de Pomerol wines are derived from three grape varieties that are typical of the Bordeaux region: Merlot, which contributes roundness and subtlety, cabernet Franc, which gives the wine its body and a very rich bouquet, and finally Cabernet Sauvignon, which produces full-bodied and very aromatic wines with a fine colour and good ageing potential. It is the blending of these wines that gives rise to the great wines of Lalande de Pomerol. They are generous, vigorous, and velvety with a beautiful ruby colour, sometimes with tile red tints depending on their age. When the time comes to enjoy them, Lalande de Pomerol wines always delight drinkers with their unique richness. The motto of the Lalande de Pomerol winegrowers is "Cordi habeo" or "I have it in my heart to". The Maison des vins du Syndicat de Lalande de Pomerol is open all year round monday to friday from 9.00 to 12.00 and 14:00 to 17.00. You are invited to a general presentation of the appellation and a permanent exhibition of photos and pictures relating to vines and wine. You will also find here brochures and leaflets on the different producers, and specimen cases for sale of Lalande de Pomerol wines. The 12th century church is well worth a visit.
